FRACTIONAL CFO & NON-EXECUTIVE ADVISORY

FULL-TIME CFO OR FRACTIONAL CFO?

Same level of expertise. Very different cost, speed and commitment.

FULL-TIME CFO A FULL COMMITMENT	VS	FRACTIONAL CFO THE FLEXIBLE CHOICE
£130K–£180K Salary + NI, pension, bonus + recruiter fee (25%) TOTAL COST ~£200K+ per year	 COST	£2K–£8K per month You only pay for the hours you need.
Fixed salary + bonus/equity	 HOW YOU PAY	Retainer or per-project
4–6 months to hire (search & onboarding)	 SPEED TO START	1–2 weeks to be in and running (ready almost immediately)
Full-time, every day 40+ hours a week	 TIME COMMITMENT	A few hrs/month up to ~20 hrs/week Scales up or down as you grow
Large, complex organisations where finance is a full-time, every-day function	 BEST FIT	£2M–£50M businesses that need senior judgement on the decisions that matter, not 40 hours of headcount

WHICH ONE DO YOU NEED?

 HIRE FULL-TIME IF... Finance is a genuine full-time, every-day function inside a large organisation.	 GO FRACTIONAL IF... You need CFO-level thinking on the decisions that matter, not 40 hours a week of headcount.

WHAT NOBODY SAYS OUT LOUD

 Most founders don't actually want a CFO. They want someone else to carry the weight of the numbers they're carrying alone at 11pm.	 A fractional CFO isn't billing you to reconcile the bank account. They do the high-impact work — the model, the forecast, the “ should we actually do this deal ” call.	 Most businesses don't need a full-time CFO. They need CFO-level thinking on the decisions that matter.
